"M'ADOO" ONE NAME IN THE M'LEAN TELEGRAMS

Investigators Trying to Ascertain if 'Francis' Is William Gibbs McAdoo's Son; A. N. Palmer, Len-root, Smoot, Zevely and Sinclair Mentioned.

MESSAGES TO FALL ALSO MENTIONED

Telephone Conversations to Be Gone Into Next; Mc-Lean's Attorney Sees
Walsh; on Trail of Mysterious "Mr. Hayes."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The name of Francis McAdoo, a New York lawyer, was mentioned a number of times in the telegrams exchanged between Edward B. Mc-Lean, publisher of the Washington Post at Palm Beach, and his employees in Washington. Copies of the messages were examined today
by the Senate Oil Committee. Members of the committee are seeking to learn whether this is Francis H.
McAdoo, son of William G. Mc-Adoo, a member of the New York law firm of Miller & Olin.

References are made in the telegrams to telephone communications with McAdoo, committee men said.
He added that it was not clear what matters were discussed with him.

Others mentioned in the telegrams include Senators, said A.
N. Palmer, Attorney General to the Wilson administration; Albert E. Fall, former Interior Secretary; J. W. Zevely, counsel for Harry F. Sinclair, and Senators Lenroot and Smoot of the Oil Committee.

Palmer was counsel for McLean
in the oil matter, and presented to the committee the published statement, which is subsequently amended, that he had loaned Fall $100,000.

The references to Senators Len-root and Smoot quoted statements
in their appearing in the official record. It was stated.

The Executive Committee,
suddenly interrupting its public hearings, the Senate Oil Committee closed its doors today and spent early two hours looking over a stack of telegrams sent from Washington to Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, and McLean,
while they were in Florida.

Some committee members hinted that the files had provided highly interesting information.

General managers of the two telegraph companies had been subsumed in the hope of establishing whether Fall or McLean had been in communication from Palm Beach with administration officials or individual members of the committee. When the two witnesses laid on the table the evidence they had been given, they were with them, however, there was a hurried consultation among members who got a look at the message and an announcement was made that the room would be closed of speculation.

Reading "Highly Sensational."
is announcing the executive session. Chairman Lenroot (Rep.), Whelan, said it was the committee's desire to decide whether the telegrams were "relevant." At the end of the long secret meeting
he said that task had not been completed. Another member of the committee, Senator Adams (Dem.), of Colorado, declared that messages from individual committee members had been found so far.
He added that there was a difference of opinion as to whether anything was "sensational," had been heard. "I do not think there is anything highly sensational," said Senator Adams.

The chairman dismissed all the members who were waiting to hear today's open session, and said that when the public hearings were resumed tomorrow, he would lead into the record such of the messages as the committee believed pertinent to its inquiry.

Some Senators said the records of the telegraph companies examined today by the committee
showed that McLean had a leased line from the office of the Washington Post to Palm Beach, and that he was kept closely informed of developments in the oil in-

30 CENTS GOLDEN WEDDING GIFT TO PRUSSIAN COUPLE

Congratulatory Certificate from the Government Accompanied by 1,200,000-000 Paper Marks.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Thirty cents
is the Prussian Government's idea of a nice gift for a couple on the occasion of their golden wedding.
Following the Kaiser's practice
of making cash gifts to couples celebrating their golden or diamond anniversary, the Prussian exchequer recently remembered Leopold and Marie Wolter of Treb-bin on the occasion of their golden wedding.

Leopold and Marie were celebrating in the midst of their children and grandchildren when the door bell rang and the Mayor and Clerk of Trebbin appeared, all decked out in the soup-and-fish of their office, and presented to the happy couple a congratulatory certificate from the Government and a check for 1,200,000,000 paper
marks, or, in plainer words, 30 cents.

Leopold and Marie were overwhelmed. "What," they cried,
"will we do with all this wealth?"

LADY ROSS NAMES NEW YORK WOMAN IN DIVORCE SUIT

Former Louisville Girl Seeks De-

Lockdowns in Kent.

By the Associated Press.
EDINBURGH, Scotland, Feb. 26.—
The divorce proceedings brought by Lady Patricia Ellison Ross against Sir Charles Henry Augustus Frederick Lockhart Ross can-up in the Court of Sessions today.

Lady Ross cites Mrs. Emily Key Hoffmann Dalziel of New York as co-respondent. Counsel for Sir Charles said the case alleged by the petitioner occurred on a hunting trip in East Africa early in 1923 and he wished to get evidence from persons connected with the expedition, and requested an adjournment until May, which was granted.

It was brought out that Lady Ross, who was Patricia Ellison of Louisville, Ky., had an allowance of £50 a month from her husband and the income of a trust fund of £100,000.

Italian Being Studied by French

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Arecio, an ob-

markable faculty of projecting tongues of fire from his head and body, has been brought to Paris to be studied by French scientists.

He is in charge of Dr. Gu-

such phenomena. The rays of fire are said to pierce opaque bodies.

Ereco's home is in the village of

was discovered by the Roman doc-

If You Want to Sell Your Auto

An automobile that has been used, but is in good condition, commands a fair price
at the right time.

Plenty of men are on the lookout for cars at slightly reduced prices.

But you must locate them.
The best, surest and quickest way to do this is to place
a broadcast that you have a car for sale.

The Post-Dispatch is the medium. Put an ad in the classified "Automobiles" column, stating what your proposition is.

Mention the name of the car
and the year in which it was made. How many miles it has been run and the condition it is in are also important.

DRIVE IN THE RIVER WARDS AGAINST NO. 7

G. O. P. Makes No Fight on Any Proposition; Dem-

Court System.

Efforts of the Democratic City Committee machine to roll up a big vote in the river wards of St.
Louis today against proposed constitutional amendments No. 7, to reform the State judiciary, are being supplemented by the Democratic bosses who control the river

Both the "rabbi" and goat" factions in what are regarded as the "deliverable" wards of Kansas City
today against proposed constitutional amendments No. 7, to reform the State judiciary, are being supplemented by the Democratic bosses who control the river
wards of Kansas City.

While provisions for the press
have been made in the military academy, where the trial is being held, the most important of the evidence probably will be taken behind closed doors and the public sittings are not expected to develop much in addition to the facts already published.

Aside from Ludendorff, the defendants are: Adolf Hitler, leader of the Bavarian "fascist" former Police Chief Pöehner; Dr.
Frich, ex-president of the Munich district; Lieut. Henry Purner, who is Ludendorff's stepson, and five men accused of being Hitler's aids:
Lieuts. Wagner and Bruckner,
Capt. Roehm, Dr. Weber and Col.
Kriegel.

All but Purner are charged with high treason.

The Nationalist "putch" was extremely short-lived. It started the night of Nov. 8, when Hitler at the head of his storm troops, attended by the Bavarian Government leaders and proclaimed the Cabinet overthrown. Hitler named himself Chancellor and Ludendorff dictator of the entire German republic.

The next day, however, Reichs-wehr forces under orders from Dr.
von Kahr, the dictator, defeated Bavarian military detachments, attacked the Hitlerites and after brief fighting, regained possession of the War Ministry.

Ludendorff Leads the Line.
When the prisoners were led into the trial chamber, Ludendorff was at the head of the line. His head had been shaved. He wore a blue sack suit, the Iron Cross of the first class and bore himself with the air of a man who had nothing to fear. Ludendorff greeted Hitler warmly, shaking him by the hand.

Hitler wore a threadbare outing coat. His behavior was super-polite, almost servile. He made a deep bow every time he recognized anyone or anyone spoke to him. He was suave, smiling and respectful.
Ludendorff was questioned first to establish his identity. He answered all questions in a loud voice but not discourteously.

After the formal reading of the accusations the prosecutor moved that the trial be kept secret, saying:

"Owing to the extraordinary danger to the nation I think it advisable to exclude all except those actually involved."

The prisoners each have separate rooms in the military academy,
which is used as a temporary courthouse, and the authorities are said to have taken strenuous measures
in an endeavor to keep the trial
secret and keep the prisoners in good condition for appearance in court.

They were offered pretzels, cheese,
sauerkraut, rye bread, wieners,
beer and other things for the trial. The beer only and declined to partake of the food.

"Sickness" Among Witnesses.
Predictions were made in many quarters that the trial would be a few days. There are reports that many of the witnesses have been taken ill and cannot possibly recover in time to give testimony in this particular case. At the time of the adoption, Ludendorff said he would make his legal right to inherit any of Elchold's wealth, his action will in no way "make any differ-

MUNICH, Bavaria, Feb. 26.—The sensational events of last Novem-

lic interest today with the opening

ON TRIAL FOR TREASON

GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER,
AUTHOR-PLAYWRIGHT, DEAD

Creator of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" and "Blackie Daw" Succumbs in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—George Randolph Chester, 55 years old,
author and playwright, died early today.

Chester left his Ohio home at an early age and engaged in various occupations. Beginning newspaper work as a reporter on the Detroit News, he rose to become one of the nation's most popular writers of fiction. "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford" and "Blackie Daw" were two of his most famous fictional characters. He wrote a number of books and plays in collaboration with his wife, Lillian Chester.

Chester and his wife worked late last night on a new story. Shortly after midnight he complained of pains in his chest and Mrs. Chester applied hot towels. He took a hot bath and retired, joking with Mrs.
Chester about his pains.

Shortly before 5 o'clock this morning Chester sat up in his bed,
awakened his wife and said to her:
"You know, dear, I love you."

He fell back upon his pillow and it later was determined that he died of a heart attack.

Recently Chester came home and started running up the stairs, James Schultz, superintendent of the apartment house, said.

"I said, 'Goah, Mr. Chester, but you're spry.' Schultz related, 'and he told me he had just taken out $100,000 life insurance and the doctors told him he was good for 50 years more.'"

EFFORT TO QUASH FOREIGN FORTUNE HUNTERS FAILS

Proposal to Tax Fathers of American Girls Who Wed Titles Voted Down in House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A Texas Representative's effort to quash fortune-hunting European noblemen was squashed in the House yesterday.

Representative Blanton introduced a bill to force every wealthy American father whose daughter marries a title to pay the Government a tax equal to 99 per cent of the marriage settlement and on the father's death a tax equal to 75 per cent of the amount, to be transferred to legatees living with foreign husbands abroad.

"The Congress ought to put a stop to this traffic of American women for foreign titles, bachelors as they are," said Blanton, who did not have our American women taken abroad and mistreated year
after year and their fortunes dissipated."

"Does the gentleman think for one minute that Congress could stop the course of true love?" Representative Roylan asked.

"I think that some of these marriages are insults to America," replied Blanton. "The minute an American becomes one of the ultra rich he is a target for all the broken-down, inebriate fortune
hunters of the world."

PREFERS HUSBAND TO WEALTH

Mrs. Webb Quits Home of Man

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 26.—Mrs.

who has been married to Charles Elchold, 56, her foster
father, to return to her husband,
Mrs. Webb recently was adopted by Elchold after she and her husband had separated. At the time of the adoption, Elchold said he would make her his heir in exchange for the companionship she would give him. Although Mrs.
Webb, by leaving Elchold's home
and returning to her husband, relinquishes her legal right to inher-

REED'S ATTACK ON M'ADOO READ IN U. S. SENATE

APOLOGIZES FOR LACK OF VIGOR

Democrats Counter by Insertion of Some of Hiram Johnson's Campaign Speeches.

By CHARLES G. ROSS.
Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Senator George Moses of New Hampshire, the principal gadfly on the Republican side of the Senate—the role ably filled on the other side
by Pat Harrison of Mississippi—entertained the galleries today by reading into the Record a report of Senator Reed's anti-McAdoo speech
at St. Louis last night.

Denied unanimous consent to insert the speech into the record
without reading, Moses delivered it with marked oratorical effect.
Laughter rippled through the galleries, but there were some disgruntled faces on the Democratic side of the chamber.

At the end, Moses apologized to his audience for not having spoken with the vigor and force which he was sure, he said, the Missouri Senator had employed in addressing his
St. Louis audience.

Retort of Harrison.
Pat Harrison, who is never abashed, retorted by reading from an Oregon newspaper a statement
by Senator Stanfield, Republican,
of that State, to the effect that Mc-Adoo had been given a "clean bill of health." Harrison then asked permission to insert in the Record
some of the campaign speeches of Senator Hiram Johnson. Nobody objected to this request and the speeches were put in without reading.

The fun began when Moses took the floor, during the period set aside for the introduction of bills
and resolutions, and asked permission to insert the Reed speech in the Record.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas,
the Democratic leader, immediately objected.

"I said, 'I shall have to read the speech and give it proper rhetorical emphasis,'" Robinson demanded that the Senate return to the regular order of business.

Moses sought to hold the floor,
but Cummins, the presiding officer,
ruled that he was out of order till the expiration of the so-called morning hour. There was then only a minute or so left of this hour.

"Then I'll wait a minute," said
Moses.

He flourished aloft a copy of his newspaper, while the galleries laughed.

Moses protested it was an unbroken rule of the Senate for unanimous consent to be given for the introduction of a speech by a Senator of the United States "delivered anywhere, any time, on any subject." He again asked to be allowed to insert the speech without reading, and Robinson again objected.

Watching the two clocks in the Senate, Moses demanded to know whether the presiding officer would be guided by the one in front of him or the one behind him.

Moses finally recognized.
Cummins again ruled him out of order in the morning hour, out immediately added, the front clock
then showing precisely 1 o'clock.
"The hour of 1 having arrived, the Senator is recognized."

Moses said he would have to read
the speech because the "revelatory
leader of the minority" (Robinson)
had objected to its insertion in the record, against all the precedents of the Senate. He was unwilling he said, that the Senate should see the vigorous language and the tense arguments of the Senator from Missouri.

"But I am not sure," Moses ad-

PRESIDENT SAYS LARGE APPROPRIATION BILLS ARE DISTURBING TO COUNTRY

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.

THE numerous bills pending in Congress calling for large appropriations are regarded by President Coolidge
as disturbing to the prosperity
and welfare of the country.

Enactment of these measures,
in the opinion of the President,
would go far toward destroying prosperity and creating a situation from which the country would be long in recovering.

A survey of the various bills involving appropriations which have been introduced has convinced the President that their enactment would call for appropriations larger than the annual expenditures of the Government outside of the Postoffice Department before the war.

Among the measures which
Mr. Coolidge regards as inadvisable to the country's welfare are those calling for increased compensation to officials, pensions, the bonus, and for grants
of money to numerous special classes.

MACDONALD SENDS NOTE ON ALLIED MILITARY CONTROL

It Is Understood to Present Plan to Stop Warlike Preparations in Germany.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Feb. 26.—A note from Prime Minister Macdonald of Great Britain to the allied Council of Ambassadors regarding the resumption of work by the interallied military control mission in Germany, which was received yesterday, has been referred to the Interallied Advisory Military Committee presided over by Marshal Foch for advice.

The note is understood to put the question on a basis that will permit
of a final solution with the allies and a determined effort
to see that Germany ceases her warlike preparations. If she is actually engaged in them, as persistently alleged in allied circles.

MAN "HOUNDED" IN MURDER CASE ENDS HIS LIFE

New York Police Say His Name

Fleming of this city had committed suicide there because "he was being hounded" in the sensational murder of Louise fashionable apartment here.

At Fleming's home here, it was said he had formerly been employed as a bartender in a New

was crazed because of the activities of the police.

Miss Lawson, who came to New

Ex-Crown Prince Prefers Berlin Gaiety to Politics

Nationalist Leaders Resent Attitude and Say He Is Under Influence of Stresemann and Bankers.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World. Copyright, 1924, by the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Parties, not politics, are interesting the former Crown Prince Wilhelm, who has hired a handsome apartment in the Kaiserdamm, Berlin's most fashionable quarter, and is making the round of theaters, sports and dances. The Crown Prince remains at Oels, superintending the estate.

The Hohenzollerns are reported to be displeased. Members of the Crown Prince's party at Breslau and the German popular party—Germany's newest reactionary group—resent Wilhelm's indifference. Reinhold Wagner, a founder and leader of the party, says in an interview with the Post-Dispatch and New York World:

"Crown Prince Wilhelm has declared to join us, which is most regrettable, especially for him. Even Gen. Ludendorff, whose loyalty to the Hohenzollerns is unquestioned, has been unable to convert Wilhelm to the side. The reason for the Crown Prince's aloofness are: First, he is under Stresemann's pernicious political influence; and, second, his financial affairs are under the management of Jewish banks in Berlin. I am informed the Kaiser is most displeased."

Hall-Halfen and Stahlhelm, who want to turn Wilhelm as a presidential candidate, explain his attitude as follows: "Wilhelm cannot act now. He would spoil everything; hence he is sitting tight and awaiting events, realizing time is working for him."

Light Early Vote in Western Missouri, Indications. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 26.—Light voting on the proposed constitutional amendments generally throughout Western Missouri and in Kansas City is indicated by reports from polling places during the first few hours of balloting.

Forecast of Rural Vote. The Association for the Constitutional Amendments, which has directed the fight for adoption of the revision, said today that he expected the rural vote in Missouri to be in the hands of the revisionists.

Example of this situation is seen in the case of the change, though it is intended to do so, might interfere with parochial schools. Against the negative Catholic propaganda, however, has been aligned the powerful forces of the State Teachers' Association, which wants the change adopted.

60,000 in Kansas City Can't Vote. One unfortunate feature of the election is that about 60,000 voters in Kansas City, who had changed their residence since the last election, and who had registered last Thursday, will be prevented from voting today because insufficient time for revision of the registration had elapsed.

Mayor Urges Support. Mayor Kiel has issued a statement in which he urged St. Louisans to vote for all of the amendments.

"They are good and wholesome and should be adopted. They were well considered. Men and women, in whom I repose the greatest confidence, labored for many hours to obtain the demands of Johnson for a Republican house cleaning."

Read a Stalking-Horse for Bears, Long Declares. Breckinridge Long, who ran against Senator Reed in 1922 for the Democratic senatorial nomination, is charging that Reed, in his present effort to get the Missouri delegation to the New York convention, is acting as a stalking horse for William R. Hearst.

"The statement that I am running in the interest of any candidate except myself or that I have any combination, expressed or implied, with any other man or men is unequivocally false. It is only another manifestation of the fact that Mr. Long is a poor loser, one of those gentlemen who continue to whine after the fight is over."

A letter written by Long to Green Terrill of Missouri, a member of the Democratic State Committee, has been made public, in which Long says:

"The candidate of Senator Reed is part of a well-planned scheme. He is not a bona fide candidate for the presidency. His friends and supporters here think that he is a better political judgment than to indulge in the vain hope he can be either nominated or elected President."

"The Senator was induced to enter the presidential race as part of a reactionary program which had as its first object the political assassination of William R. Hearst. The second object is to get the Missouri delegation and co-opted."

308 ARRESTS, BUT CROOKS PUT IN BUSY NIGHT

Police Found on Downtown Streets—Several Holdups and Burglaries

Following a crime revival yesterday, in which robbers obtained $4600 in three during daylight holdups, police arrested 308 persons, for investigation, after 6 p. m. Most of those arrested were found on downtown streets, 199 being taken in Central District. Despite this counter activity, crooks put in a busy night.

Another holdup in the vicinity of Lindell boulevard and Spring avenue, concerning which the management of the Coronado Hotel has complained, was reported by Thomas Burdette, a guest of the hotel. He said two men left a parked Ford to hold him up and, after forcing him to lie down in an alley, took $125 and walked away. He was the sixth guest of the Coronado Hotel recently robbed in that vicinity.

Man Fights Off Negress. Harris McGavock, 5257 Pershing avenue, reported the forcing of a negress who attempted to hold him up on Waterman avenue near Clara avenue. She dropped a revolver and ran.

Samuel Stebbins, 3946 Cottage avenue, seated in his automobile at Spring avenue and Humphrey street at midnight when two men stopped a car alongside him and robbed him of $125 and a stickpin.

PRISON MATRON, 70, MURDERED BY GIRL CONVICT

Body of Indiana Official Found Bound and Mouth Gagged After Escape of Her Slayer.

By the Associated Press. INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 26.—Miss Louise Richards, 70 years old, matron at the Indiana women's prison here, was found murdered in her room at the institution this morning. She had been beaten over the head with a blunt instrument and also had been strangled, police said. The police have started a State-wide search for Gladys Ellis, alias Catherine Rodgers, a prisoner, who escaped during the night.

Miss Richards had been bound hand and foot with a sheet, and a gag made from a piece of shirt had been forced into her mouth. Her body was found by a nurse who instituted a search when Miss Richards did not appear for breakfast.

Miss Richards had been a matron and teacher at the prison for 30 years. Had Escaped Three Before. A black and a white coat were missing from Miss Richards' room. Her prison keys also had been taken.

Miss Richards' bedroom is directly across a narrow hallway from the room occupied by the Rodgers woman. Before escaping, the Rodgers woman had bobbed her hair. She had placed the severed ends on her pillow and arranged the bed clothing so that a glance into her cell would make it appear she was in her bed.

The record of the escaped prisoner, police said, showed that she had been sentenced to the State Prison for 10 years for having stolen a car. She was sentenced to the woman's prison from Crawford county, where she had been convicted of petit larceny. She was paroled Oct. 2, 1921, but was later returned for violating her parole.

She escaped Oct. 16, 1922, and was at large until last January, when she was arrested on a forgery charge. She again escaped from a police matron, but was arrested at the same time as the Rodgers woman, and then was returned to the prison.

Entwined between the fingers of the dead woman's hand were a few strands of hair and a thread or two of the shirt which was used to gag her. The aged matron evidently had jerked from the head of her slayer in a desperate attempt to protect herself.

Miss Richards' room was in disorder when the body was found, mute evidence of a struggle. Corner Paul P. Robinson said death was due to strangulation, although there was a jagged wound above the left eye, which was believed to have been caused by a blow. Robinson said death occurred about 10 o'clock last night.

Theory of Girl's Escape. No explanation of the escape was heard by prison attaches during the night, according to reports made to Miss Elliott.

The cell, in which the Rodgers girl was held in solitary confinement, is an iron cage with only one door which was said to have been locked last night. The entrance to the cell door is guarded by two other doors, one of wood on the inside, which does not reach to the top of the casing, and the other of iron screen, which opens on the hallway.

Another theory of the escape of the Rodgers girl was advanced when fingerprints were found over the wooden inner door. It was believed the cell cage door might have been left unlocked or in some manner been unlocked by the prisoner, who, free of the cage, climbed over the wooden door, or forced the upper part of the door to far enough to permit her to squeeze through, and then attacked the teacher as she lay in bed, using the teacher's key to escape, after donning the woman's coat and hat.

Philippe Customs Receipts Heavy. MANILA, Feb. 26.—The gross customs receipts of the Philippines for 1923 amounted to $5,500,000. This is a record in the history of the islands, with the exception of the year 1920, when the total was $5,800,000.

And the party in a state of wreck. "In his recent distributive he undertakes the role of a political prophet and of a political authority. The accuracy of his judgment is indicated by the fact that he is constantly boasting that he would be elected to the Senate and he was beaten by about 150,000 majority. His great wisdom in matters political is probably due to the fact that he has run six times for political positions and has an unbroken record of defeat."

"Everybody who knows me at all knows that I do not start in races unless I intend to go through. If I am successful in Missouri, I shall be in the race unto the end and hope to succeed."

After Daniel Rabbitt, 35, 1424 North Seventeenth street, died yesterday at the city hospital, true to gang ethics to the last in denying that he knew who shot him at his saloon, 1100 Cass avenue, at 7:30 a. m., a priest persuaded George Damme, Rabbitt's bartender, to tell what he knew.

Damme said the shooting was done by Benny Tessmer, a police character, related to Rabbitt by marriage and a member of the Jimmie Miller gang, an auxiliary of the Egan gang, with headquarters at Miller's saloon, Blair and Cass streets.

Rabbitt said he was shot at the side entrance of his saloon when he did not promptly obey a command to hold up his hands, and intimated that it was an attempted holdup. Damme at first said he only heard the shots and did not see who fired them.

Priest Opens His Lips. Before Damme had been taken to the city hospital, Rabbitt talked to him and tried to get him to tell all that he knew, but he was obdurate. She then suggested as Capt. Stinger that as Damme was a good churchman, the Rev. Henry A. O'Neil of St. Lawrence O'Neil's Catholic Church, Fourteenth and O'Fallon streets, might be able to influence him.

The priest was sent for and talked to Damme and prayed. Damme broke down and agreed to tell the truth. In the presence of Capt. Stinger and Mrs. Rabbitt, he said he opened the saloon and waited on two customers, Mush Brennan, a police character, and Berenice Miller, 1704A Cass avenue, and was eating his breakfast at the rear of the saloon when Tessmer described the killing.

"Hello," he said, "that all you got to drink?" He referred to Damme's coffee. Damme said coffee was strong enough for him with his breakfast. The side door opened and Rabbitt entered and said, "Hello," Tessmer made no answer. A moment later there was a shot and Damme looked and saw Tessmer with a revolver in his hand. "Don't shoot me," said Rabbitt, and Tessmer's reply was another shot. Then Tessmer ran out and escaped.

Damme's statement was reduced to writing and he signed it. Taken before the Circuit Attorney, he repeated his statement and was ordered held as a witness. At the inquest today, Damme testified his attention first was attracted when he heard Rabbitt say, "Don't shoot me" and he looked and saw Rabbitt and Tessmer struggling. Then two shots were fired. Rabbitt was taken away in a police car, and Tessmer was taken away in an automobile.

WOMAN DIES AFTER BEING HIT BY AUTO

Miss Lavina Strain, 74, Run Down by Car Driven by Mrs. Alta McNamie.

Miss Lavina Strain, 74 years old, died yesterday at City Hospital of injuries suffered Oct. 25, when hit by an automobile driven by Mrs. Alta McNamie, 4329 Olive street, at Sarah street and Washington boulevard.

Miss Strain, who lived at the Christian Home, 6000 Washington avenue, suffered a fractured skull and fracture of the left collar bone, pelvis and ribs.

Three Hurt When Auto Runs Into Crowd Crossing Street. Three persons were injured at 1 p. m. today when an automobile driven by Joseph A. Stuart, 2614 4615 McMillan avenue, ran into a crowd of pedestrians crossing Eighth street at Olive street.

The injured are Edward H. Taylor, 75, 314 Chouteau boulevard; Miss Ruth Dougherty, 16, 4423 Linton street, and Miss Nellie Pickering, 23, 3104A Page boulevard. Twelvehous is at City Hospital suffering from a broken thigh. Miss Dougherty and Miss Pickering were treated for abrasions and bruises by physicians in the Arcade Building and taken to their homes.

The accident resulted from the failure of Stuart's car. A plumber, 344A Plymouth avenue, owner of the automobile, to find a parking place while he visited a physician's office. Morris told police at Central District, following the crash, that Stuart was driving a car over to Stuart, who accompanied him downtown, when he failed to find parking space and instructed him "to drive around the block." Stuart told police he just started to turn right when Morris' request and accidentally "jammed" the accelerator, causing the car to lurch through the crowd, knocking down Twelvehous and the two girls. Stuart was unable to stop the machine until he reached Pine street, where he was arrested by a traffic policeman. He is being held at Central District, charged with felonious wounding and carrying less driving.

Resigns Federal Fleet Job. NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—William J. Love, whose resignation as president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation has been accepted, said last night that he had been advised by his physician to take a long vacation.

Indictment against those accused of participating in the Ludendorff "putsch" at Munich last November. According to this extract the conduct of Dr. von Kahr, the former Bavarian dictator, and Gen. von Lossow, who headed the "putsch" which was held to be "harmless" although they had relations with Adolf Hitler and the others and were well informed of their plans.

The indictment describes Hitler as the prime mover, asserting that he aimed at the overthrow of the Governments of Bavaria and the Reich and to have acted as leader of the newly formed "national army."

Gen. Ludendorff is declared to have been acquainted with all the plans and to have acted as leader of the newly formed "national army."

According to this version Ludendorff will relate the details of his conference with Von Lossow to the court in his own behalf, and will tell how he hesitated some days before agreeing to the plan and then only with the understanding that Bavaria would not separate from the German federation.

The case will be heard by Dr. Newhart, president of the People's Court and four associates. There is a great scramble for admission tickets, but only a limited number have been issued as a precaution against demonstrations.

Don't Let High Blood Pressure Shorten Your Life

How to Stop It—Read This.

It may surprise you to know high blood pressure is so serious that insurance companies refuse to issue policies to those who have it. All because it shortens life.

High blood pressure gives little warning and until certain symptoms take hold, you do not know it. They are head pains, flushed face, hot flashes, dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, and nervousness.

Only a purely vegetable medicine like Norma that drives out the waste matter which clogs the system and forces the heart to do extra work can reduce high blood pressure. Often one bottle of Norma will bring reduction enough to stop the symptoms which distress and worry you.

Norma is a physician's prescription. It worked so wonderfully in his personal practice that it has now been placed in drug stores so that people everywhere can obtain it. Check the uncertainty of high blood pressure by reducing it with Norma.

Wolff-Wilson, Judge & Dolph, Enderle and Johnson Bros. Drug Stores, or your favorite druggist can supply you.

WOMAN SLAIN AT MADISON, ILL., YOUTH IS HELD

Police Believe Shooting of Mrs. Judy Evanoff at 3 a. m. Followed Drinking Party.

Mrs. Julia Evanoff, 56 years old, of 1250 Madison avenue, Madison, Ill., was shot and killed about 3 a. m. today following what the police believe was a drinking party at the home there of Harry Diefenbach, Eighth and G streets.

Police are holding George Street, 19, son of a Madison policeman, whom they arrested at the house shortly after the killing, and on whom was found a .38-caliber revolver, showing signs of having been fired recently. Two empty shells were in the weapon.

Street denies the shooting, but has refused to make a detailed statement. Two other persons, who admit being at the drinking party, have declared Street killed the woman, the police say. Their statements were brief, however, and the two are being held for further questioning. They gave their names as James Ryan, 24, of Granite City, but formerly of St. Louis and Ruth Kenschaff of Madison. They were arrested in a room in a Granite City hotel, where they had registered a short time after the murder.

Body Found on Street.
Although the police at first believed the killing took place in the house, the undertaker's employee, who went after Mrs. Evanoff's body, found it lying beside the sidewalk at Eighth street and Madison avenue, half a block from the Diefenbach home. The woman had been shot once, the bullet entering under the left shoulder and piercing her heart. Ryan and the Kenschaff woman said two shots were fired. What led to the shooting has not been learned, but the police are working on the theory the shooting was the result of jealousy.

Mrs. Evanoff was the former wife of William (Buck) Daley, who was mysteriously slain Aug. 8, last while seated or asleep in an automobile outside a Madison saloon. A suspect was arrested at the time on information given by Daley's wife, who talked with him before he died, but the man was later released, and the killing was never solved. Daley, a former saloon keeper, had been arrested many times in East St. Louis.

NEWSPAPER MAN SENT TO JAIL
Refuses to Tell Source of Information and Pay Is Doubled.

By the Associated Press.

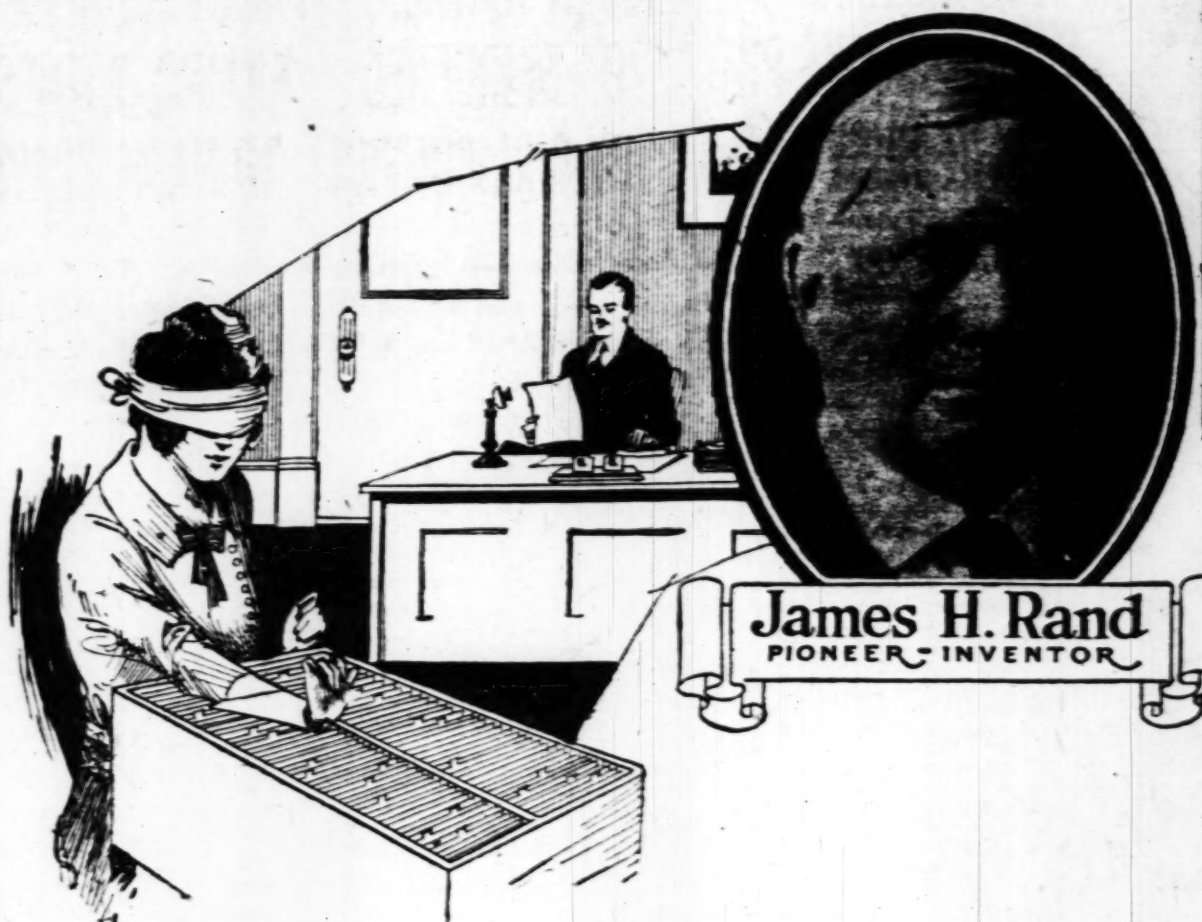

WAUKESHA, Wis., Feb. 24.—Ralph L. King, assistant editor of the Waukegan Daily Sun, was sentenced to jail for 30 days by Circuit Judge Claire C. Edwards yesterday for refusing to tell the source of his information which he used in a news item regarding rumors of graft in North Chicago official circles.

He told the court he had no knowledge of the graft conditions and withheld the source only because the information was given him in confidence. His employers have doubled his salary as he said he preferred to go to jail rather than tell the grand jury the name of his informant.

BEVERLY HARRIS SUIT ON TRIAL
He Seeks Annulment of Marriage to Much Younger Woman.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—A jury was obtained today for the trial of the suit of Beverly D. Harris, who seeks an annulment of his marriage. Harris is 56 years old; his wife 23. The only questions asked the jury were: "Would they be prejudiced against a man of Harris' age marrying a young woman, and would they be prejudiced against Harris because he had been a banker?"

Caruthers Ewing, attorney for Harris, told the jury it was his client's contention that Mrs. Harris had tricked the banker into marrying her. Ewing said Mrs. Harris had posed as a "member of the Mississippi Levee"—an old and famous family of Southern steamboat owners and planters. This, Ewing said, was untrue.

DEAD SLAYER OF DETECTIVE HAD A K. K. K. CARD

Calvin C. Taylor, Who Shot Joseph Friesz, Gave $10 to Propagating Fund, Certificate Shows.

THIRD TO DIE AS RESULT OF HOLDUP

He Was Wounded Fatally in Struggle With Officer and His Pal Was Shot by Watchman.

Among the personal effects of Calvin C. Taylor, who murdered Detective Joseph B. Friesz in front of the East St. Louis police station Saturday night, were found a card and other papers showing his membership in the Ku Klux Klan. A certificate of $10 to the propagating fund of the Klan, found among the effects at the police station, showed that he joined the East St. Louis Klan Sept. 29, 1922, his money being receipted for by Gerald A. Glascock, Ku Klux organizer. Taylor's membership card bore the date Dec. 30, 1922, denoting that his dues were paid to that date. There was another card inviting him to attend a charter meeting of the Klan in the East St. Louis Labor Temple June 1, 1923.

Three Deaths from $26.60 Holdup. Starting out to rob a gasoline filling station in East St. Louis last Thursday night, Taylor and a companion, Thomas Bacon, hardly foresaw that the venture into crime would cost their lives and the life of a detective—all for the $26.60 they obtained from the filling station.

Taylor's death yesterday, the death of Detective Friesz Sunday and Bacon's death Saturday night, each from bullet wounds, marked the plans that went wrong in the holdup.

The two youths were in a Buick automobile belonging to "Careful Felix" Lippman of St. Louis, self-styled the most careful service car driver in the city. Police say they stole the machine, but police still are investigating.

An Unexpected Volley.

First of the unlooked-for contingencies early Friday morning, when Taylor and Bacon held up a filling station at Eighth and State streets, East St. Louis, was that a private watchman, carrying a shotgun loaded with buckshot, had been placed on guard because of five previous holdups. He opened fire on the automobile as the two robbers drove away, mortally wounding Bacon.

The first clue to the identity of the robbers came when a physician informed St. Louis police he had been called to attend a young man suffering from buckshot wounds in the back. Detectives arrested Bacon at his home, 335A Antelope street. He said at first that he had been walking along a street in East St. Louis and had been shot, but did not know by whom or why.

Bacon was arrested and when told at City Hospital that he had small chance to recover, admitted his part in the holdup and implicated Taylor.

Slew Father's Old Friend.

Detective Friesz arrested Taylor Saturday night. As they were about to get out of an automobile in front of Police Headquarters in East St. Louis, Taylor obtained a revolver from its place of concealment in the tonneau of his car and shot Detective Friesz twice above the heart. The detective managed in some way to turn the revolver on Taylor, who also was fatally shot.

It chanced that Taylor had slain an old friend of his father with whom the elder Taylor had walked a police beat in East St. Louis 20 years ago.

Taylor was to have been a witness in a lawsuit pending at Belleville of an East St. Louis druggist against an insurance company. When employed as a soda fountain clerk in 1918 Taylor sold a man calomel instead of aspirin through a mistake. The customer took the calomel and claim to have lost his hair and teeth by action of the drug. He sued the druggist for damages, won a judgment, and the druggist brought suit against an insurance company under a policy he held.

Death of the principal witness may cause an adjudication of the suit without trial.

Taylor was 20 and Bacon 21. The former was identified by a St. Louis man as one of a pair who held him up in St. Louis in January and robbed him of $2.

Taylor had been rooming in St. Louis. His parents resided at 518 North Thirteenth street, East St. Louis. Detective Friesz was 42 years old and resided in East St. Louis.

Resigns Over Flag Incident.
By the Associated Press.
WATERTOWN, N. Y., Feb. 26.—
E. B. Harris, principal of Watertown Manor School, who recently attempted to teach the pupils of the school respect for the American flag by laying it on the floor and having each walk on it, has resigned upon request of a trustee.
A complaint was made after the flag had been on the floor several days and the county American Legion organization demanded an apology, which was given in by Harris. The principal said he left the flag on the floor until one of the children complained.

NEW YORK CRITIC'S VIEW OF AKINS PLAY

Author's Sense of Humor Dampened by Tears in
"The Moon-Flower"

By HEYWOOD BROUN,
Chief Critic of the New York World.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—There were excellent methods available to the playwright who would study and dramatize the story of a man who may throw his heart and soul into the telling, and make even the preposterous possible by the force of his own heart and enthusiasm. Or he may make a little out of the story and a little out of the telling. The difficulty of the play is obvious. Zoe Akins is not to do just that in "The Moon-Flower," at the Astor Theatre.

It begins as the sophisticated author who thinks of balconies, and soft sighing and sighing. He even dangles a little irrelevant about a girl who is too susceptible to her own eloquence. Even though the object be one of mock-mockery, the author cannot handle any of this. The author's sense of humor is dampened by her own sense of humor. The author's sense of humor is dampened by her own sense of humor. The author's sense of humor is dampened by her own sense of humor.

THE MIRROR OF PUBLIC OPINION

IGNORANCE OF VOTERS.
The St. Joseph News-Press.

THE JOSEPH woman, addressing a meeting of women, asked how many could name Missouri's United States senators, and 18 in the audience admitted they were not informed on that point. But women, so far as the elective franchise is concerned, have no monopoly of a mediocre knowledge of the things that are going on in the world. The author himself has established a record for the number of times he has been asked to give a lecture on the subject of the elective franchise.

U. S. TOUR FATIGUING TO WOMAN EXPLORER

Mrs. Rosita Forbes, Here for Lecture, Prefers Camels to Pullman Cars.

Mrs. Rosita Forbes has crossed the Sahara Desert, she has lived in Arab communities in the guise of a native, she has tramped through Japan and China, traveled alone from Cairo to the Cape, and written volumes on the Arab question, but the most fatiguing task she has encountered is touring America. She made this announcement at Hotel Chase today where she is resting in the midst of a four-months' American lecture tour, to speak tonight before the Contemporary Club at Buckingham Hotel. She has lived so long in Arab states, from Morocco to India, that she prefers camels to Pullman cars and hams to lecture rooms.

Has Explored Sahara.
Mrs. Forbes is 28 years old, a slender black-haired Englishwoman. Her chief interest, she says, is to aid in the establishment of a united Arab domain. She has explored the depths of the Sahara alone and penetrated to the Moroccan hills, the only white woman to visit Raisuli, the bandit ruler.

"The Arab problem is, I believe, the most important of our time," she said. "I am working principally to see a union of these Arab states into one democracy. The time has come for the European countries to relinquish their hold on the Arab states. The people are burning for freedom. The words of Woodrow Wilson, 'the champion of self-determination,' have spread to every Arabian community."

"Most of the Arabs are an ignorant lot, but those of Syria and Palestine, including the women, are well educated. Better educated than the ordinary Englishmen. They know several languages and devote their lives to study."

"The educated Arab thinks that we are horribly uneducated. We are deep students and cannot understand the varied interests of the white men. Their philosophy is that everything they have must come from within. The Arab can acquire ideas from without."

Mrs. Forbes, since last summer, has been lecturing in European countries and America, before geographical societies and national organizations. In France she received the gold medal of the French Geographical Society, the only woman to have that honor, and was the only woman, besides Mme. Curie, to address the Sorbonne.

Will Return to Sahara.
She will return again to the Sahara when her present tour is finished. She will dye her face again and don the garb of a native Mohammedan woman and set out again on exploration, she says.

"It is the only way really to know these countries," she said. "To understand people one must live as they live."

Mrs. Forbes had a word of criticism for the popular Arab book by authors who never saw the East. She has written a novel, "Quest," based on her own experiences in Damascus, Cairo, Baghdad and Jerusalem in the year 1920.

HOUSE PLACES GIFT TAX
IN REVENUE BILL, 191-65;
G. O. P. LEADERS IN CLASH

Green, Replying to Mills' Charge That Garner Dictated Rate, Asserts New Yorker Usurped Chairman's Powers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A gift tax was placed in the revenue bill today by the House.

The vote was 191 to 65. Democrats voted almost solidly for the amendment, which was proposed by Representative Green (Rep.), Iowa, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

It would impose a graduated scale of rates, from 1 to 40 per cent, the minimum applying to amounts not in excess of $50,000.

Representative Mills (Rep.), New York, and Green engaged in a sharp exchange after the New York representative had declared Green was "merely the nominal chairman of the Ways and Means Committee." He charged the Iowa representative with "changing his gift tax proposal to conform to the desires of Representative Garner (Dem.), Texas, the real leader in this tax fight."

Assaults Republican Leadership. Declaring the Texas representative had been waging "an aggressive, determined fight for what he favors, even though, unfortunately, he has resorted to bitter partisanship," Mills said that if he had been directing the Republican moves he would have "matched the Democratic attack with 100-per cent brand of Republicanism."

Green heatedly replied that Mills had "usurped the powers of the chairman in the committee meetings and on the floor." He said his proposal was offered as a means of preventing evasion of the estate tax.

The New York representative replied that the bill as now amended would result in a deficit of $350,000,000, and predicted that "it may never become a law."

Charges Mills Wrote Mellon Bill. Representative Garner broke into the discussion to dare the Republicans to follow "the lead of Mr. Mills in voting against this measure." He said Representative

Mills had written the Mellon bill and that it had been amended by majority votes.

The gift tax, he said, by preventing evasion of the estate taxes, would result in an increase of $25,000,000 in revenue next year.

Representative Treadway, Massachusetts, a Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, declared he would accept the dare to vote against the bill if it carried the Garner rate.

Negotiations between Republican organization leaders and insurgents on the Longworth compromise income rate schedule for the revenue bill caused the defection today of one of the latter group which voted to put the Democratic rates in the bill.

Representative Woodruff, Michigan, one of the insurgent leaders, said he would support the compromise, providing for a 37½ maximum surtax rate and normal rates of 2 and 6 per cent on incomes below and above $4000 respectively, in view of the increase voted in estate taxes.

Representative Bebb, Republican, Ohio, who conferred with Woodruff, said, however, that before the Democratic rate schedule could be thrown out of the bill when it comes up for final passage, some of the Wisconsin delegation of 11 members must be won over to the compromise.

Representative Nelson, Wisconsin, declared members from that State had not changed and would support the Democratic rates if a vote came again.

House Coalition Votes Increase in Estate Tax. Post-Dispatch Bureau. 20-23 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The House of Representatives has stopped reducing taxes and started raising them. Confronted with the drastic cuts made in the lower brackets, the House yesterday undertook to meet the loss of revenue that will result from reducing the taxes of the "little fellow" by applying inheritance taxes to reach the estates of those who have piled up huge fortunes. The inheritance tax amendment was adopted, involving a 40 per cent maximum.

At the same time Representative Fear (Republican, Wisconsin), spokesman on taxes for the Wisconsin insurgent group, challenged the Republican "Floor Leader" Longworth to announce the details of his compromise scheme, which he is holding in reserve, so that the members can have time to study it.

Fear called attention to the fact that Longworth's plan calls for a maximum surtax rate of 35½ per cent and he wanted to know how this would affect the lower surtax cuts. Longworth's reply was that the result could be obtained by cutting 25 per cent on all surtax rates all the way down from 27½ per cent.

Levy on Large Fortunes. The scheme of inheritance and gift taxes, represented a seemingly settled policy of the House to reach out after the large aggregations of fortunes. The inheritance tax amendment adopted was that offered by Representative Ramseyer (Rep.), Iowa, with some amendments.

The same exemptions allowed under the estate tax would apply to the gift tax, under the amendment, with charitable gifts also exempted, and the tax would apply to the total amount of gifts made by one person in a year, rather than to each gift separately.

Green insisted little revenue will be raised by the gift tax under any scheme, its purpose being to prevent dissipation of estates during the lifetime of the owner to escape the inheritance tax, and that the result will be attained by one scheme or the other.

Ramseyer Amendment Adopted. The adoption of the Ramseyer amendment covering inheritance taxes, which took the place of one offered by Fear, averages about 50 per cent above the present rates, with the maximum of 40 per cent applying to estates of $10,000,000 or more. The vote on the amendment was 190 to 110. Majority Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee oppose the tax on various grounds.

Ramseyer supported his contention for the application of the high-rate tax on the ground that under state and national laws about a 14 per cent tax is levied on productive enterprise, while the tax on estates amounts approximately to $211,000,000 or between 2 and 3 per cent on $5,000,000,000. The latter is the amount on estate property annually subjected to taxation.

Favored by All Factions. The Ramseyer amendment maintains the present rate of 1 per cent on estates up to $50,000, 2 per cent up to $100,000, 3 per cent on estates ranging from $100,000 to $1,000,000, 4 per cent on estates over $1,000,000. The first increase over the present rates is an increase of 1 per cent. They are graduated upward from this base to a maximum of 40 per cent on estates of $10,000,000 or

KOPLAR DENIES FRAUD IN BRANSCOME DEAL

Says Tode Cannot Meet Payments, but Wants to Keep on Pocketing the Rents.

Sam Koplar, real estate speculator, who sold the Branscome Hotel, 2370 Pershing avenue, to Maurice Tode, denied today that he had defrauded Tode in the deal, as is alleged in a suit filed yesterday by Tode for a receiver and a lien against the property to protect his equity.

The whole trouble, according to Koplar's petition, is that Tode cannot meet his payments and wants to remain in possession of the property so that he can pocket rents amounting to $14,000 a month. Koplar has a foreclosure proceeding in motion against Tode, which the latter seeks to forestall by the suit.

Tode charged in his suit that Koplar misrepresented the property to him by stating that the hotel earned $242,000 net in 1921 and 1922. He asserts Koplar also made a profit of $200,000 in the sale. Tode alleges he has since learned that no great profits were earned in those years and that the income is not sufficient to carry the investment of $350,000.

Instead of having a "white elephant" on his hands, Koplar said Tode was offered a profit of $20,000 on the hotel three months after he purchased it. Furthermore, Koplar said, there are four more cases on the property, one of which Tode placed on it, instead of there being only three, as alleged in the suit.

"I know nothing of my own knowledge about the rents of the hotel," said Koplar, "and no statement regarding rents was ever made by me to Tode, other than to tell him that Chase Utman, the former owner, stated that the apartment, during the year 1922, had earned $15,000, exclusive of payment of interest."

"Tode defaulted in the payment of one of the notes, due on Jan. 1 under the third deed of trust, and pleaded with me for an extension of time for payment of the same," Koplar said he extended the time to Feb. 1 and on Jan. 20 interest on the first deed of trust fell due and Tode failed to meet that. Then Tode failed to meet a payment on the third deed of trust that fell due Feb. 1.

Koplar said he met Tode Feb. 2 and the latter said he was through with the whole thing and was willing to give up everything for $3000 and payment of current bills against the Branscome.

"I declined to do this," said Koplar, "because he was and is collecting $14,000 a month rent from the Branscome, and is not paying his mortgage indebtedness as he had agreed to do."

"No wonder he wants this happy situation to continue, and therefore he resorts to this suit and puts up only a $1000 injunction bond," Tode, an experienced hotel man, Koplar said, went into the deal with his eyes open, and all his allegations of fraud are utterly false.

permanent relief is found

DO NOT expect ordinary surface remedies to remove a rash, eczema or itching skin disorder. Not on the outside, but deep down in the under layers of the skin is the real source of the trouble.

Pores clogged with poisonous germs, body cells and tissues swollen and inflamed—these are what must be soothed back to normal before a rash, eczema, or other skin disorder will disappear. Yet there is a way that brings almost immediate relief—a way that goes to the real source of the trouble. To cleanse the pores, kill germs, and start the skin again acting normally, physicians have for twenty-eight years been prescribing Resinol in their practice.

If you have today a spot, rash or irritation on your skin, apply Resinol. Get a jar of this soothing, healing ointment; spread a coating on the affected surface and smooth it in very gently with the fingers. One application will, in many cases, stop the itching completely. Resinol is absolutely harmless. It will not irritate the delicate texture of an infant's skin, or even raw exposed flesh. It does not deteriorate or lose its effectiveness with time. Granted Decree From T. Henry Garrett Jr. and Maiden Name Restored.

Mrs. Maude Walker Garrett, 35 years old, of 2254 Delmar boulevard, daughter of late George Walker, loaned today from T. Henry Garrett Jr., after testimony before Judge Hogan in which she alleged she had been an habitual drunkard for the last year.

She was granted restoration of her maiden name, Maude Sarah Garrett, but did not ask for alimony. Garrett is secretary-treasurer of the Western Silverware Co., Art Building. He entered appearance in the case, but did not contest the divorce.

Mrs. Garrett had further alleged in her petition that Garrett failed to support her. After their marriage here Dec. 1, 1922, they made their home with Mrs. Garrett's mother, Mrs. Mary J. Walker, at the Delmar boulevard address. They separated Feb. 13, 1924. Garrett is the son of T. H. Garrett, president of the T. H. Garrett Co.

A Million Children Who Slave Little Toilers Herded in Pens Like Pigs on Maryland Truck Farms

Lured From City Homes and Schools by Picture of "Vacation" in Country, They Sleep in Straw in Squalid Shanties.

THIS is the tenth of a series of articles by a correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and the New York World, who has just returned from a 6000-mile journey throughout the country in which he made a survey of child labor and its effect, mentally, morally and physically.

One child in every 12 between the ages of 10 and 15 in the United States has to work. Thousands of others below the age of 10 are engaged in some "gainful occupation."

Narrow pens, 6 feet long and from 4 to 6 feet wide, constructed in tumble-down wooden shacks and separated only by boards 10 inches high, constitute the quarters of the children who are recruited in Baltimore each year for work in the truck farm districts of Anne Arundel County in Maryland.

These boys and girls, many of them only 6 years old, live under conditions which approach in horror those of Russian refugees fleeing to Moscow from the famines of the interior. Men, women and children, in some cases as many as 100 in a single wooden structure, huddle together at night in the narrow pens and sleep either on straw or the bare boards. Privacy is unknown. Sanitary equipment virtually is non-existent.

A large number of the farmers of this district find each year that it is impossible to gather their crops of cucumbers, eggplants, tomatoes and other varieties of truck produce. Consequently they send their agents, who later act as foremen in the fields, to Baltimore tenement districts to persuade families to migrate into the country for the season.

Vacation is their lure. Lavish promises of "work in the open air," "fine houses" and "good pay" apparently are made. The whole matter is held up in the light of a vacation in the country. And parents are assured that their children will be permitted to work in the country, although it is illegal to have them employed in the city. Early in May the roads which lead to the farms from Baltimore are filled with trucks bearing the household goods and the members of these families. Women and children are seated on top of wash-tubs, mattresses and beds.

But they are sadly disillusioned. Arriving at the farm they are escorted to a dilapidated shanty, usually of two stories, weather beaten, rude and often without glass in the windows. Here they find that two or three large dormitories have been provided. Small pens have been marked off with 10-inch boards and each family is allotted one of them.

More Than 100 in Shanty. Straw ordinarily is provided for the mattress and a wooden chest at the end of each cubbyhole must take care of the more valuable possessions. Clothing must be hung on nails driven into the walls. At night the men, women and children must retire without privacy, except where the families have put up rude curtains consisting of old sheets and blankets hung from wires.

The Children's Bureau of the Federal Department of Labor made a study of the conditions in this district a year or so ago. There has been some slight improvement since that time, but on the whole the children who come with their parents to gather these crops live under conditions which would not be tolerated in the most depraved city tenement district. Ten of the shanties housed more than a hundred persons each, and 35 sheltered between 40 and 60. Forty-two of the shanties in Anne Arundel County each constituted the summer home of more than 20 workers.

The situation is another of the instances of industrialized agriculture. The shanties or "camps" are on the property of the large truck grower, and the workers are brought from Baltimore and other cities through the efforts of his agents. These agents become "row bosses," and would be known as foremen if these "outdoor factories" were organized with the terminology of the ordinary factory with walls and roof.

Many Workers Under 10. The exact number of children at work on the large truck farms of Maryland is difficult to estimate. The situation is complicated by the fact that a large number of children work only for their parents on the home farm. This can hardly be considered a child labor abuse since few of them work abnormal hours, they are sent to school for the usual rural term and are watched to prevent physical injury. Their living conditions, of course, cannot be compared with those of the migratory child workers.

The study of the Children's Bureau indicated that the earnings of most of the families were low and that the labor of the children was necessary in order to make both ends meet. Few of them, even with three and four children at work, could earn more than $3 a day. Forty families made less than $2 a day. The children, as they emptied each basket or hamper, were given small checks, which are redeemed for cash at the end of the week. The parents usually kept the checks of the children.

Work of children in the Maryland truck farms has had its effect upon education. In 1921, the latest statistics available for the investigation of the Children's Bureau, more than 500 children were withdrawn from schools in Baltimore cumbers, tomatoes and other vegetables are gathered. The "row boss" assigns the children to their tasks and checks up on their work. The hours are irregular, varying from only a few each day to as high as 10 and 11 when danger that the crops might spoil necessitates haste.

Family Earnings Small. The study of the Children's Bureau indicated that the earnings of most of the families were low and that the labor of the children was necessary in order to make both ends meet. Few of them, even with three and four children at work, could earn more than $3 a day. Forty families made less than $2 a day. The children, as they emptied each basket or hamper, were given small checks, which are redeemed for cash at the end of the week. The parents usually kept the checks of the children.

between the middle of March and the middle of June. All of them had signified their intention of working on the farms. Nearly all of the children questioned on the farms in Anne Arundel County reported that they were enrolled in Baltimore schools. The average time lost each year because of the farm work was from four to six weeks. This has forced many of the children to drop back one or two grades.

The Child of Machinery

Of all the products of American genuinity there is none which is more distinctly the child of machinery than the modern shoe. In the making of every good shoe no less than fifty-eight different machines, and sometimes as many as 174, are brought into play. The mind of man has not conceived a more elaborate or perfect system of machines, nearly human in their operations and more than human in the accuracy and perfection of their results.

It has been said that more inventive genius, greater executive capacity and a larger number of separate operations are involved in the making of a shoe than in any other product of equal value.

Since 1889 this Company has manufactured, invented and perfected practically all of the machines used by the shoe manufacturers of America in the amazing development of the industry from that date to this time.

Why good wives make bad coffee

WE said to all sorts of people:

"GIVE US the name of a man who is always complaining about the coffee."

So we received the names of several hundred men who were notoriously hard to please; and we set out to develop a blend of coffee that would satisfy those men.

Now here is the sad part of the story.

Each of those complaining men has a good wife. The men blamed the wives because the coffee was bad. The wives secretly blamed themselves. But it wasn't the wives' fault. It was the fault of the coffee.

Good coffee depends upon two factors. The Man and the Can.

You must have first a Coffee Expert who understands how to make a blend of coffee that will appeal to men. Premier Coffee is blended by such an Expert. From every pan of coffee that is roasted in our plant, he makes a cup of coffee. Premier must taste right in the cup, not merely look right in the pan.

And second, you must have a can that keeps in every particle of flavor and aroma. The Premier Vacuum Can does that; the first air that gets into it is the air you let in when you turn the key.

This advertisement is for wives who blame themselves because the coffee does not satisfy their husbands. We invite those wives to put their troubles behind them. We invite them to surprise their husbands tomorrow morning by accepting today the offer on the left.

COOLIDGE ASKS FOR LAND GRANT INQUIRY

Suggests Settlement With Northern Pacific Be Delayed Until Congress Acts.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-22 Wyatt Building.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The commanding position assumed by the issue of conserving national resources, consequent on the oil lease scandals, was seen when President Coolidge moved to preserve for the Federal Government nearly 4,000,000 acres of national forest lands assigned to the Northern Pacific Railroad under a grant of 1864.

Mr. Coolidge yesterday transmitted to Senator Lenroot, chairman of the Senate Public Lands Committee, a summary from Secretary Wallace of circumstances surrounding the claim of the railroad to large acres of valuable timber land embraced within indemnity limits of the old grant. He said: "The statements contained in the letter from the Secretary of Agriculture raise serious questions as to the extent to which the railroad company may have obtained undue benefits from the grant and also as to the extent of its compliance with the obligations imposed upon it by the legislation which conferred the grant."

"I believe these questions should be fully determined before a final settlement of the matter is effected and patented to the company. From the nature of the case and particularly the broad and varied equities which it involves, it would seem that such a determination and settlement can be made only by the Congress."

"That the legal and equitable claims of the grantee should be fully weighed and safeguarded goes without saying. But it is still more imperative that the interests of the public, both in the possession and conservation of valuable natural resources and in the accomplishment of the purposes for which the grant was made, be adequately protected in an equitable settlement of this question."

"For the reasons set forth by the Secretary of Agriculture, I heartily concur in recommending that the entire matter should receive the attention of Congress. I therefore urge upon your committee the importance of action as early as possible, which shall look to the fullest protection of the public interests here within concerned."

Pinchot Says Fall Wanted to Control National Forests.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Former Secretary of the Interior Fall "tried to do with the national forests what he did to the oil reserves by seeking to have the forest reserves put into his department," Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania told the Survey Associates at the Hotel Astoria last night.

Previous to the Roosevelt administration, Mr. Pinchot said, "the whole attitude of the Western part of the country was 'get while the getting is good.'"

President Harding, the speaker asserted, had approved of Fall's plans.

Gov. Pinchot criticized the alleged action of A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney-General under President Wilson, in turning over to the Southern Pacific Railroad land which the speaker said was worth $500,000,000, claimed by the road, without an appeal to the Supreme Court over the decision of an inferior court. This he characterized as "one of those curious cases of infidelity to the public duty with which we have since become more familiar."

As Senator from New Mexico Fall fought vigorously, Gov. Pinchot said, to release oil reserves for private exploitation by supporting the so-called Phelan amendment, which was defeated largely by the efforts of Josephus Daniels, then Secretary of the Navy.

The navy must recover its oil reserves, the Governor said, asserting the essence of the whole oil scandal is attempted destruction of the Roosevelt conservation policy. The man responsible for allowing private interests to get the navy's oil should be punished, but no punishment, denouncement or wrecking of reputations will rectify the wrong.

A. F. OF L. COMMITTEE ON UNION TANGLE IN ST. LOUIS NAMED

It Will Try to Solve Problem Caused by Unwinding of Local Council.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—President Donlin of the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor, presiding at a meeting here yesterday, appointed a committee of three to unravel the tangle in St. Louis caused by failure to obey instructions of the American Federation of Labor convention in Portland, Ore., to unseat by Sept. 15 a dual union of iron workers.

The order was not carried out by the St. Louis council until Dec. 12, and the council's charter was suspended. Several appeals for reinstatement were fruitless.

An important meeting is scheduled for March 17 in Chicago, where a dual labor council and four nonaffiliated building crafts exist. Each faction will be represented at the conference and amalgamation will be attempted. The building trades situation in Chicago, St. Louis and Cleveland is similar to that in New York. Some time ago the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor organized a new council. The body headed by Donlin did not affect the old organization.

dated a two-year agreement at increased wages with the Building Trades Association.

Sisler Eager to Test His Ability At Old Position

George Says He's in Same Class as Rookies and Must Hustle for a Job.

WANTS THOROUGH TRIAL

Brownie Manager Appears to Be Fit—Rain Prevents Today's Workout.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 26.—George Sisler was the most disappointed man in Mobile yesterday when rain prevented the opening practice session of the squad now quartered here. Sisler had two big reasons for the disappointment. One is that he is extremely eager to begin his managerial duties. The second and most important one is that he is eager and enthusiastic to again play in uniform and "try out" in his old position at first base.

Sisler is extremely hopeful about playing first base this season, but he assures everyone who requests information that he will not make a positive statement that he will play ball. He takes this stand, he states, because he does not want to lead anyone to believe that he will return to his old position for the Browns only to be badly disappointed at some later date, as was the case last spring and throughout the season.

The new manager of the Browns says that he wants a thorough trial to learn just what he can do on the ball field. In other words, to put it in Sisler's own way of stating the matter, he is in the same class with all the recruits on the team. He must get out and hustle with the rest of the boys and show that he can play up to his old time form before being counted on as a fixture.

Looks Like Sisler of 1922.

Sisler appears to be in the best of condition. The fact of the matter is he appears to be the same old George of 1922 when he had the greatest year of his career in baseball. He weighs 165 pounds and has been playing ball on the coast for several months with Jim Austin. George states that he had no trouble hitting all the fast ones fired his way by the hustling Austin.

Austin makes the positive statement that Sisler will again play first base the coming season for the Browns. Jim says that George cracked out hard line drives against the offerings he sent at him while the pair were wintering at Laguna Beach, Cal. Jim also states that he fired all sorts of wild tosses just to try Sisler out, and that not a ball was missed. All of which would prove to be exceedingly pleasing news to the fans of St. Louis.

There are now 19 players in camp, including Manager Sisler. With the exception of Dave Danforth, Urban Shocker, Tom Rich, George Lyons and John Simmons, all the players who were expected in camp have reported here. Danforth and Simmons wired that they would be a day late. Shocker is at Hot Springs. Lyons has been excused until next Friday. Tom Rich has not been heard from.

An Annual Rainy Day.

On each Monday for the past three years that the Browns have arrived in this city the players have been greeted by rain. One player who was not expected and not in camp until Monday, arrived with the players expected. Homer Ezzell, the third baseman from Texas, states that he was anxious to get an early start, and when he heard that Sisler and the players who were expected to board the train and ride with the boys to the training camp, Carl Wellman, the scout, also arrived in camp Monday. Rain this morning prevented early practice today.

Firpo's Clamor for Dempsey Go Said to Be Box Office Scheme

Broadway Wise Men Believe Luis Angel Wants No More Encounters With Champion—Renault Bout at Windsor Said to Be Worth $200,000.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—According to Broadway gossip, Luis Angel Firpo, having had a great plenty on the memorable night of Sept. 14, will never again mingle with Jack Dempsey within the confines of an 18-foot ring. The noble senor, it is said, is arranging a list of exhibition dates and will trade on his last showing with the champion in an effort to clean up while the cleaning is all to the vacuum.

He will do business with Jack Renault, Fred Fulton, Floyd Johnson and other heavyweights during the coming summer months, but will avoid Dempsey as the average man avoids a coal hole, according to local gossip. Meantime, it is said, the trick will be to squawk loud and plaintively for a return engagement with the champion. This, it is said, will not only serve as an effective smoke screen for the senor's business, but will react with favor upon the gate receipts that will attend his efforts against the heavyweight bourgeoisie.

Canadians Prospering?
For one bout alone, he is said to hope to get away with the trifling matter of $200,000. This is the proposed engagement with Jack Renault at Windsor, Ont., on May 24 next. The Canadians are greatly enamored of Renault, a native son, and are figuring to pay heavily to see him in action against the senor.

for a third fight. If Rojas turned in a nice job on his third start he was to be guaranteed $100,000 for a bout with Dempsey for the heavyweight championship of the world. Floyd Johnson, Fred Fulton and Jack Renault were suggested as possible opponents.

Syndicate Is Balking.
Rickard possibly had in mind a rival attraction, if Firpo still was of a mind to go with a "syndicate." From the looks of things yesterday afternoon, however, the syndicate is a thing of the past and pleasant day dreams.

Low Raymond would not say that negotiations were off, as regards a Firpo and Willis bout, but he did say that under no circumstances would his "men" place a forfeit of $50,000 in a Buenos Aires bank. "We don't do that. This fellow will have to meet our terms. We are willing to put the money up in any bank in this city. What right has he to demand that we send a guarantee to his country? Another thing that we won't do is to put up another $100,000 when he gets to this country."

Newman to Box Stribling.
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 26.—Nick Newman, local light heavyweight boxer, has been matched to meet Young Stribling, Georgia school boy, contender for the light heavyweight title, at Ponca City, Ok., next month.

Prendergasts Win From Holy Cross

Victory Clinches Basketball Title—Westerns Also Win.

A crowd which taxed the capacity of Sherman Park Community Center Gymnasium witnessed two league championship matches in the municipal basketball competition last night. The Prendergasts surprised by defeating the Holy Cross team, 27 to 17, thereby winning the title in the Wednesday night division and the Westerns Electric carried off the championship in the Friday night division by defeating the American Brakes, 18 to 13.

The Prendergasts were defeated by Holy Cross last week principally because they persisted in rough play. Last night, however, they stuck religiously to the ball and actually outplayed their opponents. Bill Thomas, Harry Heibberger and Bill Gockel starred for the Prendergasts.

As a result of last night's decisive scores, all group championships are completed and the elimination series for the municipal championship will be started within a few days.

TONY, COACH OF CARDS' PITCHING RECRUITS, TO BE LATE IN REPORTING

Fred Toney, the big mountaineer, who will act as coach of the Cardinal pitching recruits this spring, will be late in reporting at the Bradenton camp, it was announced this morning. A letter from Toney stated that his mother was seriously ill and for that reason he would be unable to report on scheduled time. Toney was scheduled to report at Bradenton yesterday.

It also was announced that L. C. Weir, who last season umpired in the Texas League, would handle all the Cardinals' games in Florida, as well as those on the way North. Members of the Knot Holes who are scheduled to depart Saturday include Manager Branch Ricker, Secretary Lloyd Bottomley, Plack, Douthitt, Lavan, Mueller, North, Pickering, Schultz, Sothoron, Wigginton, Barnes, Hornsby and Harry, manager of the Fort Smith club. Pfeffer and Blades will join the squad en route to Bradenton.

MIKE GONZALES GOES TO REDS WHILE CARDS TRY BUSH CATCHERS

By the Associated Press.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 26.—Mike Gonzales, catcher of the St. Paul club in the American Association, and Charles Dreessen, local third baseman, have been sold to the Cincinnati Nationals, owner John Norton of the Saints announced today. Gonzales reports at once, while Dreessen will play this season with St. Paul.

GIRLS' BASKET TEAM SCORES 112-0 VICTORY

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Feb. 26.—Several records probably were set when the Baracca-Camel Club team defeated the Bonaventure quintet in the girls' city basketball tournament here last night. For one thing, the Baracca-Camel five won by a score of 112-to 0. Lucille Williams shot 25 field goals, which probably stands as a new mark. All the scoring was done by two players, Miss Harper caging 21 field goals. Another feature was that none of the scoring resulted from free throws. Only one foul was called.

AFFIDAVIT FROM FEET IS NEEDED TO DECIDE BASKET CONTROVERSY

By the Associated Press.
MARQUETTE, Mich., Feb. 26.—Referee Glenn Crase has raised a fine point in basketball circles in the Upper Peninsula and the Iron Range today is re-echoing with the arguments of the pros and cons. Baraga and Champion, two high school teams, were playing Saturday night. It was very close. With Champion leading, a Baraga forward dropped a free throw through the hoop. Champion protested. The Baraga player, according to the Champion objection, stood two inches over the foul line when he made the throw. Referee Crase agreed with the protest, but declared the basket should count. The Baraga players, he said, were wearing shoes two inches too large for their feet and therefore the object shooters did not actually stand over the foul line in making the throw.

The Baraga player removed his shoes and his feet were measured. The referee's contention was proved correct—the player's shoes were two inches too large for him, but where the feet were at the moment is not stated. Baraga won the game.

Such popularity must be deserved

OVER the footlights or over the counter, it's the same story—the big public can't be fooled. If a play or a product makes good, it's because it really is good! Chesterfield's swift rise was no accident. Smokers were ready for a better cigarette.

Chesterfield grew and continues to grow, on its taste alone—and after all, taste is the smoker's own best proof of tobacco quality.

Barring of Clubs Net Stars Hurt U. S. Title Event

High Rank Eligibles to National Municipal Championship Will Be Few in Number

By DAVISON OBEAR.
Members of private tennis clubs will not be eligible to compete in the national municipal championship for 1924, which will be held in Detroit next summer.

This tournament was added to the regular events conducted by the United States Lawn Tennis Association last year and was held at the Forest Park courts in St. Louis from Aug. 8 to 12.

Acting upon the recommendation of its municipal committee the annual meeting of the United States tennis body, held in New York Feb. 2, voted to bar all members of various private clubs from taking part in the national municipal matches. The winners of the 1923 championship were all private club members and unless they withdrew from such organizations the singles and doubles titles will go to new players this year.

Few "First Ten" Stars Eligible.
In a number of cities the ruling will have a decided effect on the ability of the players. The 1923 championships will have very few players who ranked in the first 10 of their respective cities. All players who rank in the first 10 in St. Louis are private club members.

The ruling will perhaps lower the standard of playing ability shown here last year, but the competition will be much keener. Heretofore players with some promise have been eliminated in early rounds by the private club stars, who, of course, also hold membership in the park organization. They will now be more encouraged with a better chance of reaching the final rounds.

There will be a meeting of the local Municipal Tennis Association next Friday night at the Sherman Park Community Hall and the delegates will no doubt vote to adopt this ruling in conformity with the national governing body.

Park Players Eligible.
Public park players in the suburbs of large cities will also be eligible to play in the national municipal event, according to another ruling voted by the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association. While all residents in the St. Louis district, which includes territory within 25 miles, are able to obtain permits for play in the St. Louis parks, there will probably be some method of elimination adopted by the committee for his second bout, and he won again a still larger sum.

Chilean Wonder May Come.
Quintin Romeo-Rojas, the heavyweight champion of Chile, and a rival of Luis Angel Firpo for the heavyweight championship of all South America, was called a flatmate offer by Tex Rickard yesterday. He offered Rojas $7500 for a flatbout here. If he made good against an opponent to be selected by Rickard, he was to be paid a larger sum for his second bout, and he won again a still larger sum.

Mr. Bert Fippes of Orleans, Ind., came for treatment—Was Cured—Expresses Gratitude. To those who live in St. Louis, or within a few miles, are you serving your own best interests? You are losing time, spending money and all the time growing worse. Patients come to me from many states—after having exhausted every available means to a cure—I cure them—they go home well, happy and grateful. Why? Because they receive what they came for—a Cure.

Dr. C. Matthew Coe, Orleans, Ind., Jan. 20, 1924

Dear Doctor Coe:—

It's impossible for me to express in words my gratitude for what you have done for me.

In November I went to you with a bad case of Piles of two years' standing, that had and was causing me most awful suffering; and causing me to lose a great deal of time from my work, that of construction work with the Western Union Telegraph Co.

I had doctored with a prominent specialist in Indianapolis; had used all advertised salves and ointments that I could find, without getting any benefit whatever.

Doctor Coe, you treated me just seven times, and I am now sound as a dollar. I also wish to say that I did not lose one bit of time from my work after the first treatment you gave me.

It may seem to those who are suffering that I am overenthusiastic, but I am not. And I believe that any suffering man or woman who goes to you will get the same results I got. That's not all—your fee and terms puts your wonderful treatment within the reach of anyone who is afflicted.

I am writing this letter hoping it will be of some means of bringing some sufferer to you and a cure.

Your sincere friend,

NEW TAX LAW NOT LIKELY TO BE PASSED THIS YEAR

Congress Probably Will Postpone Adoption of a Revenue Measure Until After the Election.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.
A Special Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Tax legislation, so far as it affects incomes received during the year 1924, is likely to be postponed until next autumn. The joint resolution providing for a reduction in 1923 incomes, payable this year, will be passed much sooner.

Almost overnight the outlook for the passage of a comprehensive revenue bill has changed. The coalition between the Democrats and the insurgent Republicans in the House has resulted in the framing of a bill which, from the viewpoint of the Treasury, will create a deficit and, therefore, must be vetoed. Unless the Senate rewrites the measure—and that is not likely to happen until after months of debate—the chances are tax revision will be the paramount issue before the people in the coming campaign. Everything from now on will be done with a view to political advantage in the battle at the polls. Instead of going to the country with a bill for which both Democrats and Republicans could claim credit, the two parties will blame one another and ask for support so that a new tax bill can be passed.

Congress in No Hurry.
The delay in enacting a new revenue bill, of course, interferes considerably with the plans of business concerns and individuals who are making their expenditures and investments during the year 1924, but inasmuch as tax payments on this year's income are not due until March, 1925, Congress is in no particular hurry about rushing a revenue bill through.

The taxpayers of the country, however, will not be in a happy frame of mind if they cannot get some reduction when they pay taxes on their 1923 incomes and so both parties have promised a reduction. The first payment of 1923 taxes is due next month and taxpayers are being advised to pay their tax for the year in quarterly installments so that when Congress does pass a joint resolution or amendment to the present revenue act giving a one-fourth reduction on 1923 taxes, the taxpayer will be permitted to omit one of the quarterly installments. If the joint resolution is passed before June 15, taxpayers may choose to omit the particular payment due on that date, though regulations governing the rebate of taxes will necessarily have to be drawn up so as not to affect the regular and expected flow of funds in the treasury.

Presidential Veto Certainty.
The nub of the situation is that the reduction on 1923 incomes is going to be effective some time during the present year, but that Congress will not finish consideration of the main revenue act until the November elections are at hand. There is always the possibility that Congress will at the last minute pass the revenue act, but the outlook at the moment is against its becoming a law because of the certainty of a presidential veto. The number of things inserted in the pending bill objectionable to the administration is increasing and whereas a week ago some doubt existed whether the chief executive would dare veto the measure, the word from administration quarters is that he will not hesitate to do so, as the Democrats and insurgent Republicans have emasculated the original measure and made it unworkable from the Treasury viewpoint.

The broad ground that the pending bill will not produce enough revenue to run the Government is considered sufficient by the administration to attack any bill, and though the opposition may present figures tending to disprove that claim, the administration feels it will be supported by a preponderant opinion because of the controversy and doubt that will have been developed. Only a measure on which there is no doubt and which is certain to produce the needed revenue will have the sanction of the administration. There are, of course, not enough votes in either house to pass the pending bill over the veto of the President, so he will insist upon changes before affixing his signature to the measures put up to him.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 26.—The International Miners' Committee, in session here, has decided to appeal to the miners' organizations in all countries to oppose the lengthening of working hours and to ask all organizations of workers to make representations to their governments for the immediate ratification of the accord reached at the Washington labor conference instituting the 8-hour day.

Here Housman, the German delegate, previously had informed the committee that the present wages of the German miners were equivalent to only 52 per cent of those in the U. S. and that if calculated in gold

What goes on behind your back?

Are you able to wear the type of gowns you like with confidence—or are you distressed to find unsightly blemishes on your arms and shoulders?

You can now rid your skin of pimples and blackheads!

BEFORE the Mercirex treatment was developed there was no sure, prompt way to eliminate the causes of pimples, blackheads and other more serious disorders which take root in the true skin.

The true skin lies beneath the outer skin which we see, beyond the reach of ordinary cleansing agents. When its work is retarded by poisons, germs and infections, the true skin throws out distress signals which appear on the surface as skin blemishes.

The L. D. Caulk Company, one of the oldest scientific institutions in the country, has developed a treatment which penetrates to the true skin, and there acts promptly and positively on the deep centers of skin disorders.

The Mercirex Treatment

- 1—Cleanse the affected area with Mercirex Medicated Soap, the most efficacious germicidal soap developed. It cleanses and disinfects the outer skin in a remarkable way, preparing for the penetration of Mercirex Cream.
- 2—Apply Mercirex Cream thinly. Massage gently but thoroughly

Careless use of the skin greatly magnified.

The outer skin—which Mercirex Soap cleanses, disinfects, and stimulates. The complicated true skin where most skin troubles develop. Mercirex Cream penetrates here, eliminating the nucleus of pimples, blackheads, and eczema. It is also effective against most other ailments of the skin and scalp—such as itching, sores, wounds, insect bites, plant poisons, and dandruff.

THE REVELATIONS OF A PAID COMPANION

By JANE PHELPS

Author of "My Husband and I," "A Wife's Story," etc.

Chapter XVIII.

MR. ELLWOOD REBUKES MOLLIE.

ONE of my duties was the opening and sorting of Mrs. Ellwood's mail. The advertisements I threw away, notes of sympathy I read to her, then replied to them. She had little other mail, an occasional letter, nothing of a private nature. These I also read to her, then she dictated her replies.

"Even friends forget an invalid after a while," she said one day a bit sadly.

One morning I recognized Barton Ellwood's handwriting on an envelope. Occasionally he had written his aunt a short note, but as I opened the letter I felt a premonition of something disagreeable. It was a longer communication than usual, winding up by telling her he would be in the city in a few days, and would spend a week or two with her if it were agreeable.

"That will be nice," she said, "Mollie always enjoys Barton's visits." She dictated an answer at once urging him to remain as long as possible, assuring him a warm welcome.

I was to see him again, this man who had so accumulated me with his eyes, who had so disturbed me.

"I knew that letter held something unpleasant for me," I said to myself.

That night I overheard Mr. Ellwood talking to Mollie, reprovingly.

"I don't like the idea of your being so much with him, your name being associated with his," he said rather sharply.

"Larry's all right. I suppose Guy's been telling you things. He and Larry don't get on very well. But I don't see him often," Mollie parried.

"I should hope not! I don't like the idea of your name being linked with a man termed 'fast.' I am too well known to have such gossip escape notice."

"Don't worry, dad. I can take care of myself. Mother tells me Barton is coming. He'll take me about. I'm awfully fond of Barton. He's such an understanding sort." Cleverly, Mollie changed the subject.

"Barton's all right, of his sort. He'd never get you talked about. But I don't know that his cynicism is good for a young girl. He's too blasé for me."

"Oh, dad! You old-timers are too funny. Wake up! The world does move, and we've got to move with it, or get left at the post!" And she pulled his head down and kissed him, while his eyes followed her fondly as she left him.

"He loves her, is proud of her, but doesn't know the least bit how to manage her," I thought, then wondered if anyone could.

Later I again overheard a conversation, this time between Mollie and Guy. Mollie was going out, had met Guy in the hall, and slipping off her cloak, asked him how she looked, pirouetting before him in a wonderful sea-green gown, cut daintily low.

Guy snorted.

"You girls are beyond me," he grumbled as he surveyed her. "You look stunning, of course. You get yourself up like that, then expect men to behave. Why advertise yourself if you are going to grumble when we answer your advertisements? I'll be hanged if I can understand you—your crowd."

"You don't have to. I suppose you are thinking of Don Nicholson. He was rather horrid, and I am much obliged to you for making him keep his place. But one has to expect that sort of thing nowadays. I could have managed him even had you not interfered." Mollie gathered her cloak about her and went out.

I wondered what had happened, who this Don Nicholson was. But even as I speculated the door opened, and Barton Ellwood came in. I stood quietly looking down at him from the head of the stairs, standing well in shadow, and saw the same irreproachably dressed, wise-eyed cynical faced man whom I, for no reason at all, both feared and disliked.

Can You Concentrate

By Ruth Leigh

"I'VE read this letter about 15 times," I heard a young woman call to a colleague across the office, "and I can't seem to get my mind on it to know what it's about."

Of course she can't. I saw her read the letter, lay it down and look at her finger nails. Then she turned back to the letter and ran a comb through her bobbed hair. She then put her head between her hands in an attitude of strict attention, only to look behind her and make a sharp retort to a friend to whose conversation she was probably listening.

She couldn't concentrate—obviously. Can you? Do you ever read a book or a letter or a newspaper over and over again without having the least idea at the end of what you were reading?

Being able to concentrate on a given subject is an achievement that is worth cultivating. If you can concentrate in the presence of noise and other distractions so much the better. There are, however, those who cannot even concentrate in a close, silent room without any interruptions. All because they have not schooled their mind to attend to one thing at a time.

The reason so many people cannot concentrate is because they don't try. They think they are trying hard, but they are not using their brains. The first step toward real concentration is actually, to think hard about the subject or the book before you. The conscious human mind is capable of thinking of only one thing at a time, and if you actually attend to the subject before you, and every time an alien thought enters, you shove it aside determinedly, it will not be so hard to concentrate. The reason it seems so difficult is that when an outside thought does intrude itself, you dwell on it—and let your mind wander, with no attempt to return to the subject you should be considering.

One of the modern lecturers on philosophical subjects declares that there are three kinds of thinking: First, real, directed concentrated thought; second, day dreaming, in which one lets one's thoughts wander in hit-and-miss fashion, and, third, thought which is devoted to justifying one's actions—trying to attach a good reason to an action apparently performed without a reason.

The first kind of thinking is the best. The other two are bad. It shows how few people can really concentrate, because they have never trained themselves. To see newspaper folk, writing in a noisy room, midst talking, clatter and loud conversation, and yet intent on the sheet of paper in the typewriter—is a splendid illustration of how one can learn in necessity to concentrate.

WHEN I DIE

By Sophie Irene Loeb

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB

WHEN I die I want no bouquets. Nor funeral wreaths, nor eulogies. For if perchance to that Spirit Land I go I will need them not. Rather than blooms on my cold grave. For these things that are not material Are worth more than gold. They keep the spirit alive And constantly create the faith That the milk of human kindness still flows And that good in the world is not lost. And if perchance there is one But I ask of you who are my friends To give to me today that which I need most: The clasp of the sympathetic hand, The voice that reassures, The solace in my hour of need, The rebus to warm the cockles of my heart, Who would wish to send me costly flowers, Let him send instead that which he would spend In like amount to some suffering child. And then I will know that through my going Something has gone forth that is life-giving. As against orchids that die in a day. When I go let no one weep. But instead take good cheer to some sorrowing one. And in that way I shall be enriched. In place of tears they might have shed. And if I deserve it, Let those who would mourn Be glad that I have left the world None the worse for my coming.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN

A tradition of 1300 years was broken and a precedent established recently when Lady Barrett was allowed to speak in an English cathedral.

Miss Ruth Powderly, one of the two nurses present when Woodrow Wilson died, also witnessed the death of President Harding in San Francisco.

The election of Mrs. Frederick Wiggins and Miss Elizabeth Hall to the vestry of St. Paul's Church, New Haven, is the first instance in Connecticut of giving women representation in the vestry of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

More than 300,000 women in the United States filed income tax returns in 1923.

As a result of educational work among the women of the Democratic party, probably 10,000 women speakers will take the field in the cause of democracy during the coming presidential campaign.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

VERILY, verily, my Daughter, as a cat before a mouse-hole, as a politician before election day, as a small boy before Christmas, so is a woman all the days of her life. For, from the perambulator to the hearse, her portion is "Watchful Waiting!" Behold, before she weddeth, it is her destiny to watch through the arras for her Beloved's coming, and to wait until he is announced, before showing her glad "surprise." To watch for the first sign of sentimental interest in his eyes—and to wait for some token thereof. To watch him "wake up" to Love—and to wait for him to ADMIT it. To watch him retreat in affright at his discovery—and to wait for him to "come back." To watch him become "wise" that he is entangled beyond escape—and to wait for him to cease struggling against fate. To watch him while he finisheth "playing around"—and to wait until he hath written "selah" after his last flirtation. To watch him say farewell to liberty and the pursuit of happiness—and to wait at the church, until the ushers and the best man have gathered him together and brought him thither. To watch him fumble for the wedding ring—and to wait until he putteth it on her finger. Yes, verily. And, after she weddeth, it is her lot to watch him depart in the morning—and to wait for his return, between dinner time and midnight. To watch the feast and the mutton grow cold—whilst she waiteth for him to finish cleaning his car, testing his golf clubs and winding his fishing tackle. To watch him devour his repast—and to wait until it is digested before she speaketh of that which is in her heart. To watch for rice-powder upon his coat lapel, and for scented notes in his pockets—and to wait for the "explanation." To watch for the glint of approval in his eyes—and to wait for a word of appreciation or a compliment. To watch their wedding anniversaries come and go—and to wait—oh, WAIT!—for a sign of sentiment, or of recollection, or of jubilation thereat, from her Beloved. Verily, verily, as a prima donna's understudy, as a butler at a dinner party, so is a woman all the days of her life, a Watchful Waiter!

Do You Bathe Regularly?

Far more necessary than your external bath is your internal bath. Only a certain amount of our food is taken up by our bodies to furnish the fuel and nourishment needed. The balance is waste which, like the cinder and ashes in a furnace, must be gotten rid of in the quickest and easiest way. Mountain Valley Water is highly recommended for that. About two-thirds of the weight of the human body is water, and like water outside of the body will grow stale unless changed frequently. HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

Shift Your Dinner Table to the Best Position.

WHERE do you eat? This is not one of the many foolish questions, or a new game. It is just a desire to know whether you are still old-fashioned enough to insist on eating in the middle of a room. Many of our so-called "best people" and faithful followers of tradition have been forced to change their tactics and eat all but banquet meals away from under the chandelier which has hung over them for generations.

The table has been shifted to a more artistic center where candle or electric light meets its every demand. The table of today has ceased to be in evidence when not needed, leaving the center of the room for other uses. The drop-leaf table of period or modern style is now serving small families. When not in use, it is reduced in size by dropping the leaves and moved back out of the way.

Instead of the day-cloth, the table is simply decorated with a pretty centerpiece or runner of some sort on which a fruit or flower dish, candlesticks or an Indian basket may be placed. The flowers, themselves, may be of shell, beads, paper, wood, wax, velvet or glass scales, and the fruit of paper-mache or rubber.

In one house we find a settee built in a corner of the dining-room and a rectangular-shaped table sitting in the angle with two carved chairs to make places for four at the table. Properly set, this makes an attractive place to dine and one out of the old order of things.

At another home we find an inviting bay window an oblong table with a long bench at either side and carved chairs at the ends. There is nothing to obstruct the view and it is a light, cheery place to eat. The center of this room is high, so the only cheery place is the one where the table now sits.

This is quite a sensible arrangement.

Every one likes the change and is happier because of it. Still another home has the table placed near a big open fireplace, a little back so that the heat is not too intense. There is a short bench at either end and a longer one at the side facing the fire, so that all may see it while seated during the meal. No high chair backs obstruct the view. Another innovation has been made by having the table cut down a bit lower than ordinary, which is a wonderfully comfortable idea. It gives one a chance to look at the food one's plate at a more comprehensive angle and places the arms at a better height to master the cutting of one's food. This is a novel idea, worthy of consideration.

Another novel arrangement of a table for two is the studio of an artist whose place is rather small, but built in the center of an old-fashioned garden. The table descends upon the family, so to speak, for it is part of the oak-beamed ceiling. It comes down on steel rods to exactly the right height and is held there as long as needed. Then, after a button is pressed, it slowly goes up and fits in place. This idea is unusual, to say the least, and the table is out of the way when out of use.

Individual service and no carving at table allow the use of a table that is much smaller than that which we used to think a necessity. It is more intimate and cozy than the old-fashioned round or square table. Table tops are another reason why, for ordinary times, the small table may do. For special dinners, extra tops are sometimes used. A local carpenter will make any sort that you cannot purchase. This is much more sensible than the system of the old days when we struggled with the extension that would collapse if it were extended the least bit too far, or refused to extend at all if not in good working condition.

The world moves and we must move along with it. Why insist upon eating under the chandelier just because our mothers and grandmothers did? Probably the dear ladies would move as quickly as any one else, once convinced it was the proper thing to do. Because we have done certain stupid things for years is no reason to keep on doing them. Choose a new place for your table now, move it before Sunday's dinner and see if the family doesn't approve.

Content.

AS I read the daily papers, I perceive the one best bet is not to wholly and unpleasantly capers true. I can not doubt it, wicked tyrants still conspire; but I can't fret about it as I settle by my fire. Winter days, when Nature's sleeping, dreaming bird comes blithely, and when shades of twilight creep dim this old familiar room; at the quiet evening hour when the darkness comes apace, brighter then the gay flames flower yonder in the big fireplace. Then I settle down to worry, but, somehow, the time's not ripe, and the daylight bothers me when I fill my old cob pipe. Yes, with pipe and slippers ready and the firelight's gleaming warm, old Earth's poise seems pretty steady and I can't predict much and I love my pipe and ease, so, forgetting revolution and the mix-up overseas, I just watch the smoke-wreaths curling where the sun and shadow play, and I think of Earth, swift-whirling on her vast, appointed way, of the suns and systems wheeling with a motion sweet as song, and contentment comes stealing, for I'm sure he can't go wrong.

By Irvin S. Cobb.

WHY THEY CALLED IT A BUGHOUSE.

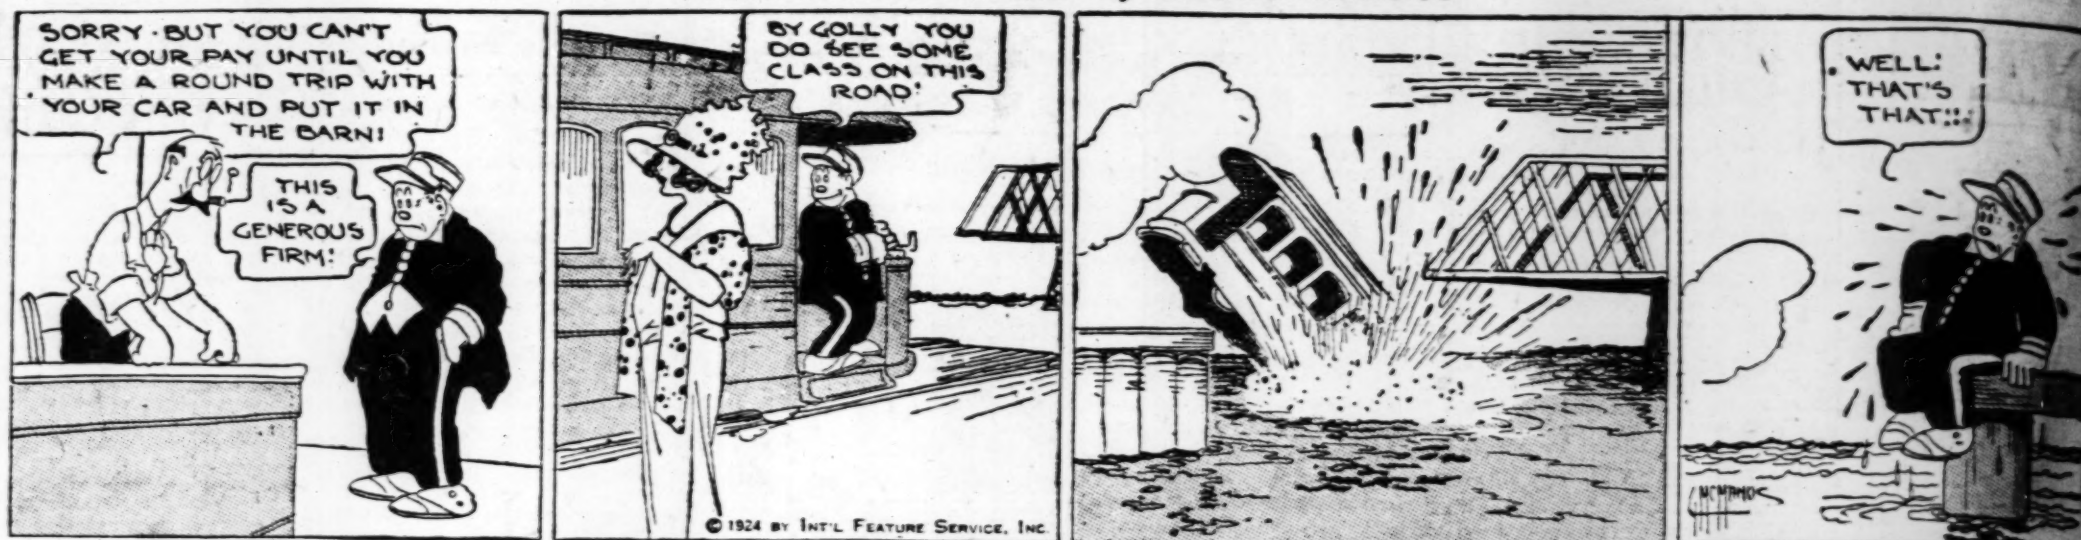

T HE chief physician came up to an inmate in a private insane asylum, slapped him on the back, and said in comforting accents, "Well, old man, you're all right. I've just pronounced you cured of all the delusions which afflicted you. You can run along now and write word to your people that you'll be back home in two weeks as good as new."

The patient departed gayly to write his letter. He had finished it and sealed it, but as he was licking the stamp it slipped through his fingers to the floor, and fell on the back of a cockroach that was passing and stuck there. The patient hadn't seen the cockroach, what he did see was his escaped postage stamp zig-zagging over the floor to the baseboard, and following a crooked track up the wall and along the ceiling overhead. In depressed silence he tore up the letter he had just written and dropped the pieces to the floor.

"Two weeks! Hell!" he said. "I won't ever get out of this. I'm worse off than I was when they brought me here."

MESSAGE TOLD OF SLEMP GOING SOUTH

One Says Palmer Had "Underwood" Use Influence to Prevent Calling Mc-Lean; Another Says
Walsh Withstood Efforts.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Telegrams sent to Edward B. McLean,
A. B. Fall and others at Palm Beach, Fla., and relevant to the oil industry were read today into the record of the Senate Oil Committee.

One of the telegrams sent to Mc-Lean in Florida and laid before the committee says that A. Mitchell Palmer, counsel for McLean, has
"underwood" use his influence with Senator Walsh (Dem., Montana), to prevent the calling of the Washington publisher before the committee. This telegram is followed in the file, the Senators said,
by another message to Mc-Lean, in which the publisher was informed that all efforts to influence Senator Walsh had failed and that all indications were the McLean would have to testify. Both telegrams were sent by McLean employees in Washington. Their contents probably will be placed in the public record tomorrow.

Leased Wire Suggested.
The first telegram read into the record today, was from John Major,
at Washington to McLean at Palm Beach, suggested a leased wire from the Washington Post to McLean's cottage in Florida so the publisher could have "easy and quick access to the White House." It has been reported that a leased wire was installed.

The message said also that C.
Macdon Slomp, secretary to the President, would be in Florida shortly.

Another message from Major McLean said that Major had "a talk with Smithers at the White House."

Major is an employee of McLean here. E. W. Smithers is chief tele-grapher at the White House.

"Palmer's Law Partner."
In another message, Major told McLean he had talked again with
"I. W. Zeebly, Palmer's law partner, who said the matter would be attended to in a manner satisfactory to you."

Another message said W.
Starke, a director of the War Endowment Corporation, was anticipated in touch with McLean on important matter.

"Palmer and Zeebly told me tonight that under no circumstances should you send a message to the committee," said another message to McLean from Major.

"Man at Wardman Park."
They said, "The message said
that after the man at Wardman Park (Palmer's Hotel) testified and committee wanted you, they can take care of you."

A message from the White House, signed "E. W. Starling" and addressed to McLean said it starting had "Wired William Hopkinsville, Ky." (Starling is in the White House Secret Service.)

Major reported to McLean that he had delivered a message to Adoo and Palmer as per your instructions. (In other messages there are references to F. M.
Adoo of New York, believed committee men to be the son William G. McLean.)

Under date of Jan. 22, 1934, the wired McLean that A. Mitchell Palmer (former Attorney-General for McLean) had received the impression from Senator Walsh that McLean would be called before the committee.
This message added that "the people are working on Walsh."
Walsh was then counsel for William C. McKelvey, speaker of the House of Representatives, who has been charged with the job of operating the oil industry.
